Ted's Tips

As Bob has advised, Katja has arrived. Those of you that attended the Ringlands BBQ will have already had the opportunity to meet her! For the rest of us we will have to wait till Thursday to make her welcome. Thanks to Bob and Therese for their efforts on the Club's behalf.

I look forward to a report about the work done at Ringlands this Sunday. This is one of our Club's projects and it will be great to have it to a standard needing only a small amount of maintenance from now on. Thanks must go to the Eurobadalla Council's Norm Lenahan for his help over the past months in organizing the volunteers.

Was thinking of the meeting last week and I am sure Vice President, Lin was able to handle it with his usual flair. I will be back for the next meeting providing I can be surgically removed from the seat of the motor bike.

Cheers for now,
Ted

Cheers

Ted

Last Week

Ted was away last week enjoying the wilds of the outback and his twin grandchildren. From all reports he was into the farming thing as quick as a flash. I understand that Lin did a great job as the acting president, everything was just apples!

Because the Editor was also away a fuller report of the meeting is not available!

Exchange Student

Tonight we welcome our exchange student for the next twelve months. Katja (Katie) Gfeller comes to us from the village of Lindau near Zurich in Switzerland. She is 16 years old (turning 17 in December) and has an older brother Thomas. Both of Katie's parents work in airline related industries at Zurich Airport.

No doubt we will hear more in the coming months.

I am sure that Katie will have a great time in Narooma. Already she has enjoyed some of the sights of town including Ringlands, Buckridge Lookout and walks along the beach.

G8 renews commitments to polio eradication

By Dan Nixon

Rotary International News -- 18 July 2008

At their 8-9 July summit meeting in Japan, the G8 nations agreed to "maintain momentum towards the historical achievement of eradicating polio."

To do so, their joint statement continued, "We will meet our previous commitments to maintain or increase financial contributions to support the Global Polio Eradication Initiative [GPEI], and encourage other public and private donors to do the same."

Together, the G8 countries -- Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Russia, the United Kingdom, and the United States -- account for more than half of all funding of the GPEI. The initiative is led by the World Health Organization, Rotary International, the U.S. Centres for Disease Control and Prevention, and UNICEF.

The G8 first placed polio eradication on its summit agenda in 2002. It has renewed its commitment to eradication at every summit since then, but not all member countries have completed their financial contributions.

In addition to raising funds, G8 countries work as a group to advocate broad support for ending polio. Advocacy by G8 leaders for the four remaining polio-endemic countries -- Afghanistan, India, Nigeria, and Pakistan -- is critical to ensure eradication of the disease.

The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation welcomed the G8's renewed commitment to finishing polio. Following release of the G8's 2008 summit communiqué, the Gates Foundation stated, "In recognition of the G8's continued attention to polio eradication, the foundation will commit at least US$150 million to fight polio this year. This is in addition to the $250 million we have committed to date toward polio eradication efforts."

Finishing polio worldwide remains Rotary's top goal. Vital to helping achieve that goal is Rotary's US$100 Million Challenge, the three-year funding effort to match the Gates Foundation's $100 million grant to The Rotary Foundation for polio eradication.
