Welcome to a small Beacon this week... while I catch up

Last Thursday we discussed a number of items that are of concern to each member of our great club. Firstly I would like to thank everyone who contributed and, although at times it appeared to be going in circles we were in fact moving forward.

☺ Firstly we will be able to roster the Oyster Festival for the two days.

☺ At this weekend Easter Market we will set the Shelter Box up next to our van and use our "tent" to promote the club. There will be no white elephant stand.

☺ Lifting our profile in the community as a way of bringing in new members has deep feelings, many are the opinions on how this can be achieved and each has some merit.

With more than 20 years directly involved in the Media I often forget that not everyone has a working understanding of the difference between Advertising, Editorial and Advertorial and how they are used. I must say if you watched some of the "Current Affairs" shows on TV you'd be very confused. I will address this at a three minute talk very soon.

We should have a new web site up soon which will allow us to promote our club and activities and, most importantly, keep it updated. Entry forms, Applications etc will all be available through the site.

- Our PR releases will now carry an invitation to join the club with contact details.
- We will endeavour to get meeting details etc into the community section of the paper.
- Will look to producing a poster promoting us and Rotary in general. Laurelle will be printing off some pamphlets for next weekend.
- I and the Board are always open to your suggestions.

In the end it is through us and our actions that will bring people to the club. Promote YOUR Club and YOUR Rotary to anyone who will listen, It will pay off.
